Monday

This will serve as the first entry into this journal, volume three. I'm surprised and pleased I have done these full journals.

I am now eight-teen and that is pretty exciting. Yesterday I bought my first lottery ticket, it was a January five. The guy didn't cost me. It's just kind nice to exercise my rights. It feels somewhat freeing.

I ended my last journal, volume II, on Friday, March 7th. The last event I really wrote about was the Tribecoo the first concert that I went too with my dad and met a beautiful girl named Maya. At the moment she is in mexico. Since we've been talking she has only ever spoken to me at night, this isn't a problem whatsoever, I'm just eager to get to know her more because she really liked everything about her as far. I'm at a place where I currently think everything. Last night I was worried that I announced we quickly when we are "texting" or messaging, this is because I know so little about her and it usually takes her a while to reply. It seems like she is interested

P102 #2 from M. about in hanging out, possibly not this weekend or the next but potentially the one after, I hope it works out. She told me about the colleges she is interested. Many of them, if I remember correctly, are out of state which Linda makes me worried but eager to know her more.

 As of right now I haven't announced her exchange, don't entirely seem like it's kind of a weird thing to do but hopefully it'll make me feel better because last night I got a little and met talking to her. It's weird how those things work, I hardly really know her. Something about the day she texts conveys a lot of personality.

After school today I have to take Ann and her boyfriend Brian home.

So I took Brian and Ann home, it's kind of hypocritical that at one point I made assumptions about who he was. I think Lauren kind of skewed my judgement. It's my fault for blindly making assumptions.

This morning Bryn gave me a birthday present. It was a book called "Blind Spot" and some groundhog day work. It was very nice, she excited about the book. I hope I go better at reading and I guess to enjoy it more.

After school today I really have to go my novel history work done because I have a test due on that marks the end of the unit. I also have work at 5:30 so I don't have a lot of time to procrastinate. If I don't end up finalizing my debate outline in language Arts. We are doing debates and my debate topic is "Humans are inherently evil." I'm arguing against this.

I keep thinking about Bryn and I want to tell myself that it is because I really like what she learned and I am going to learn more. Part of me is worried that she filling in the cracks of what I don't know with questions, that's why I just don't want her come around as too eager and make her uncomfortable. She seems different and special. I say this because she been really trying to avoid dependency, she seems very dependent and not lead comfortable with herself and not dependent on another person for happiness, this is repulsive to me I think. Just from how she talks she seems very charismatic.

I hope that when she comes home from mine we can talk more regularly, or in person. I think maybe I have the desire to prove myself to her in a way. I think I can probably be more outgoing and jazzy than I am in person. I don't really have a reason to believe she won't just not answer something. Maybe planning something will help with that.

Wednesday, March 6th 2019

I keep falling asleep a little later than I normally do so I'm a little tired.

So quem is on my thoughts and maybe considering how well things go with maya maybe she'll want to go. It may be cool for her because she doesn't go to a regular public school and I don't know if her school does anything like that.

After school today I had to fold my laundry and got some time.

worst done, maybe I can go ahead a little bit. I have never been taken away home and go to Shakespeare at 4:30.

Right now in class my math teacher which who is talking about the achievement lesson and how it upset him. He thinks the idea that there are "more bad people" and "more mental health issues" is related to dependency on technology, more specifically cell phones. Of course this is partially true because it allows an escape and gives people the "opportunity" to avoid learning better and being better. We must keep in mind that the instant global communication brings negativity to a forefront. Twenty four hour news stations are also guilty of this problem. People are drawn to negativity we these news stations are incentivized to collect all the negative information that they can. The fact that people can share things and absorb them in a function of a neural of course makes it seem like there are more bad things in the world.

I'm listening to Jordan Peterson's 12 rules for life, I am very much enjoying it. He shared a Carl Jung quote

PHS. 47 Mrs. M. Abbott

"No Tree, it is said, can grow to heaven unless its roots reach down to hell."

-Carl Jung

My personal interpretation of this quote is that in order to gain positive enlightenment someone must alternatively face what is absolutely negative. To truly be a great person you must face those demons. To avoid the mishaps in your life you are laying yourself a curse because you are plastering the inevitable consequences. Facing these things in your life does at least three things for you. One was listed above. The second silent behind this is that it holds yourself accountable, if you close your eyes and don't see your demons then how can you expect to succeed anything.

I need to do the FAFSA

I have to talk over David & Lise's jiggle out if Andrew and I are going to the South Carolina comic con.

Thursday, March 7th, 2019

Today I did my debate in Languages Arts, my topic was whether "Hate is inherently evil". I think it was alright, I know that if I felt more comfortable, I did with which was pretty good, our goal I did.

After school I felt kind of weird and I was very tired. I did and up napping until 5 but I don't need them.

I feel like sometimes I procrastinate in order to make my life more interesting but of course there are more productive ways to do this. Being stuck in a stagnant life is odd. That's not the best way to avoid that but I'm tired.

In my own personal study, of those around me I carry that I have become too judgmental. Of course an amount of judgment is important so I can understand what's wrong and how I can pursue more good. I am no aware of people's differences immaturity can frustrate me and maybe its frustration of my own immaturity. I don't think I should be so critical.

I do feel much better today I think that because I wasn't very rested had a huge effect on my mood.

I feel like I have been at a standstill place for a while. I know what I have to do tomorrow I just to put it into practice. Is this because I am generally unmotivated? Maybe its because I am worried about procrastinating on school as I don't commit to something that may distract myself. I am worried with the absence of working on something I care about I become aimless.

Megan is a great motivation right now I have been worried about losing the magic that is inherent with being perfect strangers. I need to be more active with her, that will help.

After school today I am planning on hanging out with Tashen.

day light saving started today so day light lasts longer and there about a 3 am.

I stayed up until 4:30 am last night because of was talking too much we also pretty tired,

Monday, March 11th 2019

Tuesday I left my journal at home so I didn't really get a chance to write much today.

I e-mailed James Bratton asking him about a possible meeting so I can ask him some questions. I asked if he had any advice about getting an internship, he came up with some good advice, he was very nice and replied very quickly. Hopefully we can meet and I can ask some questions. I need to compile some questions to ask. Maybe I can also ask him about another adult minor topic with a plus one.

I would really like to work on another project, it will motivate me while also building my resume.

I should create a file list and also do a weekend review of this post weekend.

I've nearly got to do my FAFSA.
I'm currently running out of time.
Mr. Taylor is supposed to check our workbook tomorrow so I really should do my notes for that tonight.

Tuesday, March 12th 2019

This morning started out very eventfully I was pretty tired but I went to Target and got 2 oranges, a water and then the Bell 5.
The lady at the self check out judged me for getting the energy drink.
I knew they're bad for me and this was just kind of a one off thing.

On the way into school I started coughing like mad it started going awful.
I was forcing myself to think sick because I was so tired and I didn't want to waste my money.
On my way into school I was drinking the energy drink and it tasted so bad that I changed so I wasn't exactly fully aware, I was more quickly approaching a truck in front of me. I had my water bottle locked in my desk to hold it because I was using it as a charm the cap was off. I got surprised by the truck so I tensed up. I squashed my legs and the water shot out of the water bottle and went everywhere. I parked at the school and forced myself the drink the whole thing which cost exactly a quick process. I also had to write myself a check out note because I have an auto-appointment at 1:30. I had to turn in the note at the front office then run to the theater in less than a minute.

Over this past weekend, on Friday I went to the video game trailer with Andrew and Jackson, then we went back to Turners to play the game, we ate pizza then went to his room to hang out and it was a really good time; we ended the night watching my name in ems; Andrew really seemed to like it and I was pleasantly surprised.

After school today I have my car appointment, I also have to work, on top of that I must stay up late with my world history and PE. And on top of even that I need to do the paper, look over David and his lines and purchase a suit. I should probably also book into finding a truck out like just for them. I have work for the next three days and I am planning on seeing Valyria about this weekend and maybe visiting Myra.

Today I woke up real late, I slept through several alarms, and ended up waking at 6:27. I slept so late because I stayed up until 1 in the morning talking to Maya. I know its just over text thus far but there is never a dead moment in our communications.

The oceanography Chris Fisher thing is also not over.

Friday, March 15th 2019

What a good entry

So I didn't go to school yesterday. I was tired.

Tomorrow am meeting Maya in Atlanta at around 10 in Valyn going to be able to make it to TAC or to Valyn's show which I totally forgot about, but I think it should be cool. It and am very excited to see Linda get in my blood last night about her band and went in the best mood I was faced with the fact that I have been part of no music to Riley in drama IV which she was absolutely right about. I reflected. I didn't feel defensive, but I asked for some elaboration and where I could improve. It ended up being very productive and enlightening. Although it was constructive I still didn't feel up feeling great. I and Mayra were more so all felt sort of vulnerable and because she didn't answer from a critique and ended up having it go in my head. Anyways I'm quite excited about tomorrow, she's not entirely forward about her feelings where going now and then I am just to see if it recuperated at all. I just need to be patient because I really like how she acts. For a friend first, that's exactly what I want. I can't help but be curious about how she feels and it kinda seems like I have a tight timeline because of college but I shouldn't view it like that. I really hope tomorrow goes well, because if she like what I see even like over text, she incredible. I have pretty bad acne so that Friday week I'm going to try and treat it. I'm probably going to go get a face mask to try and combat it!

I explored the city with Hugo yesterday. I got to Atlanta just before 10 am. I parked at Ponce City Market and purchased eight hours parking and waited. Hugo ended up telling me and she was by park tower, only over a mile away, I couldn't cancel my parking fee or had to find Valley to get to downtown. I ended up meeting one of the electric scooters. I had never ride one, they were difficult to learn but I felt kind of silly riding one. I felt out of place. Anyways, I rode the scooter all the way there, I stopped several times to check the directions. I found my way to the corner where the park tower was, as I was stopping I saw her and a part of me knew it was her right away despite only ever seeing her once two weeks ago in the bank at a concert. When I saw her my heart went of skipped a beat, she was turned away and all I saw was her wavy blonde hair. She was wearing all black and converse, just what I really like. I knew it was her but I pre-occupied myself.

before I continue pursuing naturally, I do realized that I feel very vulnerable and not very happy after telling my something and she has yet to respond.
It makes me feel somewhat compelled to not answer right away. If I don't respond then the "theory" doesn't progress. I don't want to come across as desperate in any way from answering so quickly. Although it seems hardly surprising maybe I need to pull back. This stage of liking someone absolutely kills. I just wish I knew how I felt.

(cont.) ... with my phone, I had to end the "Bird" date anyway and I would tell her. She came up to me and I saw her at the corner of my eye. She made very little eye contact, even when I would look directly at her. I wonder if she was anything near as nervous as I was. Taylor leaves me to believe we but my general narrative reduces me into being otherwise. I know all of my flaws and I am the supreme judge when it comes to my life. This judgement becomes amplified when it comes to things I care about. We began walking down the hill which was nice. With a down quiet, one of the first things I brought up was the weather. like; some on.

 We talked about what was going on around us. Much of the conversation was scattered and not very meaningful, I remember feeling confident in myself at some point so it must have been as bad as I reflect on it to be. At morning, my behavior. We found tiny deer, looked at ant, we found a small structure with bamboo in it. She stepped at ant pieces and did some weird gummy thing which made me smile. We found some and ended up at a place down the hillside with a bunch of tree inverters. She suggested we read some. I went to get a blind band and she looked at the lines. Her transmitter did not work and she ended up suggesting that cut both side one, we both go on one and done off. She took onto my upper arm. It felt nice to be there because I wasn't nearly bold enough to take her hand. We were around every between the weather. We were over to the playground park where we went to the playground we both went to as kids. The geometric playground that is considered as an art installation. We entirely drained the battery of the receiver we were on so we had to run across the field and get a new one. I don't know why we were running but we were. We got on a scooter and we all agreed we're men. We found a map and decided to go to centennial park. I need to be far more decisive and confident. I need a solid plan for our next thing. We got to centennial and there wasn't much going on there was a marathon going on from St. Patrick's day. We walked around aimlessly for a while and I suggested we go find this place to be a problem because I was unfamiliar with local restaurants. It didn't take well that I didn't take the reigns, next time I must be more decisive. We settled on a pizza place called Abundance. We took a scooter there because it was only about 1.2 miles away. After running into many cracks in the road and thoroughly damaging the scooter we were at abundance, we went in to decide what to order. She suggested one called "These are your mom's" and she added that the garlic knots were a must. I made a dirty joke about the name and she forced me to say that to the guy who took our order. I had to do it. I did it and she seemed somewhat pleased. We got our cups and sat at a highrise by a window where we could see all the animal parades go by & I showed her "Piggy - Piggy" and told her the story surrounding it. We then got our piggy. On the way to dinner I told her I was into drawing and she made me draw something on the paper the piggy came on. I drew a happy piggy guy that I wasn't very satisfied with. Then I told her draw, she drew a really good drawing of a girls head. I had the somewhat problem myself so I then drew a guy. We then played a drawing game where we could draw one body part of a creature at a time, taking turns. She complained however, because she was uninterested with what she saw when I sent a picture of our adventure list. We then decided to go to town, & I ordered us an aban. We got two Poms and I wish I needed the less our bid. Actually the reason we need the poms was to connect our bid. She seemed quite impressed with my car which was nice. As we were trying the figure out she seemed cold and I said she could sit in the passenger seat while we try and figure out what to do. She seemed sort of grumpy but went over anyway. The whole time she sat there she kept the driver eyes shut annoyed that she was uncomfortable. She mentioned something about country affairs and I felt a sort of tension. I really wanted to tell her one last time how bad I was but I wasn't sure if I would make her uncomfortable. After this we went around Ponel and then reached a sort of wall where there was silence and my child knew what to do. We started walking toward the area where we first met and then walked down the road and ended up at a Starbucks. We sat there and talked for a while and later, she told me random facts and she with the true calm mystery. She held my hand at a difficult angle. She had dry skin ridges in her hands and her hands felt a little rough but nice. Her hands were warm. Next time I see her, my goal is to hold her hand and maybe possibly kiss her if at all possible. After Starbucks we were going to go to Trader Joe's but she saw a Ralph's generic stone; I think it was called. It was a stone with a tree of somebody stuff we walked around and made commentary on what we ever heard us. We played on the children toys and the puppets. I kept saying over things and she was sketchy about it.

PLOS API draft, about

I sat down and we proceeded to conduct a sort of interview. At this moment when she played along I knew I really liked her. We continued walking around. We ended up finding a knitting lesson book. Then, she had to leave. I walked her to where her car was. She tried several to be starting. I don't know why. She assured there would be a next time. We hugged and she left. She had a sister concert that she had to go to. I had to walk back to my car. I realized that my parking ticket expired at 5:00 and at that time it was 5:20 and I meant even half away back the space. I ran all the way back and I luckily didn't get a ticket or anything. I had a really good time.

I need to remind myself not to fill the empty spots with perfumes. This, first of all, isn't fair to me because it leads to infatuation which can be primal because I am too smitten of myself if I put her on a pedestal. Secondly, it's not very fair for her because it sets an unattainable standard. I wish I knew how she felt so I knew from her act. I could a friend but I want something more than just friends.

I have a busy day.

Talking to others and to people you aren't naturally linked to and friends with is incredibly important. It's especially important to talk to and understand those who you either don't agree or get along with.

I don't do this enough. Being surrounded with people who agree with you all the time doesn't do you any good. I am often proven wrong with my shattered assumptions of others. I used to have an unanticipated hatred for Ryan Clegg, whether this was mutual by innuendo and a form of jealousy or it was insecurity based on the assumptions I knew he had about me.

"I really need to draw more regularly"

I'm really glad its later in the week, I have a ~~other~~ mechanical testng for Daniel and Liam. I need to go to the mall and get my next pieces.

— To Do —

- FAFSA

- Suit shopping
- look at online classes
- Schedule test make-ups

I want to know may, I don't feel like I know her incredibly well. I mean of course I dont know her. Maybe, she is important but we kind of talk briefly over text each night but the messages have lots of delay in between so we don't go to talk about a lot of stuff.

I find myself somewhat frustrated with how little I know. This is why I want to do a phone call so there isn't this delay where I grow more insecure with the time it takes for her to respond. I brought up Skype last night and she didn't seem too keen on the idea.

To - Do

- Test make-ups

- > oceanography

- > Gov

- > World

- FAFSA

- buy suit

- talk and do online

Yesterday I had my class and Lisa book review which went okay.
I think I'm improving with writing from the first time in a while, I think Patrick has a lot to do with that.

After class ended I drove to the mall to buy an suit, I didn't end up purchasing one but I got my sizes. I didn't have time the bus so I found fit. After that I went to the food court and ate two burritos which was a bad idea, I felt sick.
I was feeling major and this was the first conversation where I really was able to let loose.

Later into the night we went through conversation, eventually playing "what we done" which ended up just being truths. She went on to ask very randomly questions we went on to talk about several things own and she went on to share her views on and how sexually weaker she seems to be concerned me. I'm not judging her entire character based on this. However her weaker viewpoint, however attractive it may be in some aspects, I know would upset me if I were to entirely associate myself with her. Because of many past interactions and my basic understanding of others my age, I believe fully but question if her weaker attitude is a phase in the effort to mold herself. She also mentioned her open and ambiguous sexuality, which if entirely genuine is not a problem. The only concern is I see a main concern of sexual identity all around me. It seems like people believe that in order to be successful or further important one must be sexually apparent.

Of course anyone is challenged in some way but it seems that some, myself at times included, choose the rockier path in order to feel significance.
I don't think men-negative sexuality is fabricated by society and I don't think it's a choice over a lifestyle. Although I do believe that these factors can encourage this. Some may be more susceptible to this influence, I assume based on hormones. Sexuality can absolutely be a natural given. She however is just who are or have been confined in the midst of their own awakening. In this to the romanticism of mental illness, there seems to be only time. I don't want to be bigoted and of course I am in no place to make assumptions about something I understand very little about. I assume, because it's an internal sort of thing, it's something you can only truly understand by having it. Of course I certainly don't give me a negative opinion about someone. Just like anything else like race, ethnicity; you should always and only judge someone based on the content of their character. I think our conflict because I know we little about her.

This week I need to do a ton of work to do. Yesterday I apparently hung out with Plaza at a park nearby to her house. She was chilling out down by a field. I walked down to the field after I parked and she was lying on a blanket with her boyfriend. After a small while he was playing with a boomerang and while we were alone as promised I started to tell her the pteromorphia story she shared with me. She told me that she had been visiting a pteromorphia store while she was in biology class. I told her that the first time I was going to send this would be right in front of her. At first she was embarrassed and tried to run away but eventually we sat down and went at it. At one time this young boy with a sweater walked by us, carrying the sweater behind his back. It appeared he started staring at us and made a comment. He was very different to understand but he said something like; damn your girlfriend fine. I didn't even exactly what he did because like I said, he was just a kid, he looked about clean years old. He continued to mumble and eventually said a comment about many sugar trees. the difficult part was that he wouldn't talk to me like a person. He kept repeating back the saying over. I didn't want to promote this because it seemed like he wanted a reaction. I threatened to call someone, he was very difficult to deal with because I just couldn't communicate with him. I went to call someone because he was acting like he was taking pictures of Maya. When I went to look for my phone Maya suggested that we just move, so we did. On our way to the new place she kept looking back over her shoulder. She said she was glad I was there. We settled the blanket at a selected little area on a field facing the highway. We lied on the blanket and I taught, watched videos and played games, I tried to teach him the more music with a block of gears. As we talked we got more and more physically closer. I had a great time.

I really must catch up this week. There is somewhat a degree of separation from Goc but I must have all my traditional school class work in by

Thursday. Tuesday at lunch I started with:

- e-mail teachers for make-ups
- Napoleon Scrapbook
- I side with... quiz

I totally forgot to go and do these things during break.

I also forgot that I was going to purchase Game Boy color tickets, luckily I set an alarm. They were four times expensive than I expected, the total of two tickets ended up being $100, I only had $50. I used a portion I had of my mother's and the cover the overall cost.

I should study for the plankton test and try to take it tomorrow.

I went to the cemetery in Sugar Hill today. She and others were why, maybe in the hopes of obtaining some much-needed peace. I couldn't shake the concern that I myself have been being irresponsible. I think that was telling of where my landscape over so that I was too concerned with others too be myself entirely and never completely for what is meaningful in my life. As I walked throughout the forest of tombstones I made were obituaries. Two of which being, many of the people buried there were quite young. Some of them being significantly younger than me. Several were just infants who never even got a chance to live at all. From being 2 years old to 3 days old, some even dying on the same day as their birth. There were also many children, some even closer to my age.

 I came to realize that, and likely to have what I have and that life is very fragile - due been incredibly selfish with my life. I want to make a difference, reduce the unnecessary suffering in the world.

Waiting for Jannah's parents to start the go to school I pulled into a nearby neighbourhood clubhouse area where there was a gumball and a tennis court up on a hill. By this tennis court there was a small set of bleachers with a slightly raised wooden bench around it. I started to try and balance along it and make it to the other side of the train. Although I have done this before and it should have been very difficult, I couldn't do it hardly at all. But I kept trying each time I switched something up and from time to time I saw improvement. I stood and leaned into the side to establish my center and I kept trying. I would fall but try again and again. The only thing that proved to be absolutely useless this balancing act was fear. It seemed as each time I thought about something else I would stumble.

Once I was entirely focused I was able to go back and forth on the beam with no problem. This seemingly simple and easy spirit and made me feel entirely better, I got reapplication probably thoroughly decreased and this heavy metaphysical experience helped me healthily exactly what was going on and every I over and over again I feel monumentally better.

I need to make a plan for what I want to do with regards on saturday. the following are some ideas

I am currently on Spring Break and have realized that I haven't written anything down since she has been on break. This is somewhat a disadvantage because I like to create a habit of keeping a journal even when I'm not in school. This past Friday which was the 29th, I made an attempt to be somewhat productive, having not even bathed yet and still wearing my pants.
I went to Kroger to get some jewelry and hopefully begin a productive day. I then took my mom's car and went to CVS to get some allergy meds because the pollen this year is severe and I must take a preemptive strike. While I was at CVS I found Katie, who was trying to post a photo of her dad's dog for her mother at the front.

The front man was working exactly as I helped her or another method to order them, the next time and that it would be ready in about an hour so I suggested that we go to Baskin-Robbins and get some ice cream.
We sat there for a little bit but the photos were done pretty soon.
We went back to CVS and I dropped her off. As she was leaving she was talking about Bailey bullying her in some way of behavior, this may be blatantly obvious I can remember, which in itself is a problem. Anyways as she was leaving I went to hug her and it felt awkward. She laughed hysterically, it was somewhat embarrassing but the fact I wasn't entirely ashamed proved self growth to me. After this I went to Walmart to get some fresh cleaners, I was meeting up with Mayn that next morning and I was quite excited. I got home, bathed and cleaned up my room quite a bit. I then purchased a game called unscramble TVC which was for £20.00 and was about little young boys solving puzzles. I went to bed and decided to play it. It ended up being quite frustrating but I think it built up character and allowed us to compete.

I met the trustee boy to the pub Thursday, March 28th, I had went this afternoon. I was taking Bailey home and we were having a very conversation with Jordan Fenlonius, they were both talking about personal struggles each of which I was somewhat sympathizing with because they have both shared bits of them with me independently. I sat quietly and listened, Jordan expressed that he was too excited about being at home with her parents so I suggested that we do something on one of the days this week, as they were then planned to buy at an lumber which is tomorrow, as she visiting this. I took pity home, we always have greatly interesting conversation. After work that evening I went home and straight to my room, I stayed in there a while, just tasting maya and that's when I heard the "Scoby for President" shouting a little while later I became quite hungry as I was going to have a bit and just happened to eat. This was around 11:30.

 I am walking down the stairs and I started to hear this and suddenly saw my mother talking about stuff. the TV was quite loud so I couldn't make out exactly what they were saying very the beginning but I was interested and then going on. The following dialogue is a loose recollection.
 P: How long have you been doing this... how many times have you done this since Feb [2010] which was when they got married. C: How many times have I even done P.O.T?... I was wondering about when do you do this usually around this time? They then talked about how he just did it when they went to Colombia and he shared that edible with her! this was more power! On top of that, their behavior was odd. Chris said something about being bad at basketball and various reactions were as if a tragic shooting secret was revealed! I lied on the phone in the following instant trying to figure out why he felt about that! I just sensed of the city, being highly connected to community especially considering the fact that they are in the midst of a divorce. I called him and spoke to him about it. He集结了 the situation. I also shared with him what was said about him being with Jamie prior to the divorce. We have yet to go into that however I feel better and optimistic. I think that it was mostly bothering me. I will elaborate further once I talk with her about it.

On Saturday I went to Pleasant Park to meet myra. We met around 11am and stayed together until 5pm. I just ate fish chowder on her blanket on the hill facing the big fish by Rock tower. We played question games and several Chuck Taylor's Pinessakes twirls. I really enjoyed it. She brought kombucha and strawberry jam, the kombucha was tangy and sour, it was definitely not a happy chipping bird. I slowly made an effort to go slower. the bird perched in any way we I was pretty pretty alright. she kept taking breaths and uttering little jabs from the trees and landed them on top of me. At one point I had to pee and we got up to move. we walked to the closest bathroom. When I came out of the bathroom I stood there looking away from the women's room, she had gone while I was in the men's room. She grabbed my shoulders and tried to scare me but I gave her no reaction, I had no reaction she said 'man, not even a flinch' it was a nice establish kind of playful banter. After this we found some crackers and started around the park, we talked and tried to decide where to settle. My mother said which allowed me to pick one from the both of us which is always nice because I can have her be there. We ended up finding a nice shady place by a tree and just down the bluffs and talked, we continued picking different tiny birds. This time with her narrating and making jokes, etc we enjoy the talk to her and I love it. At movement we were comparing birds, I was going to squander this opportunity again, I grabbed her land. We had time for a while and laid very close. I gently quayed her hand and lay with my right as we talked.

She later told me she really enjoyed this and it even turned her on which was something she never me about before.
As we laid there very closely, certain music began to play from over the hill. There was a shooting going on nearby. It added to a perfect ambience for the evening. I thought about firing her a gun but out of fear of hurting anyone or a see passing whom shot at the gunner.
She had to leave abruptly around 5:00 and on the entire walk to her never can I debated on whether or not I should do it. Once again I passed up the opportunity of our no loss to memory myself to do it on the barge before the place her mom was parked. I will absolutely take do it next time I see her though.

The next day, which was Sunday of 31st I drove up to Atlanta again with Andrew to see others. We went to FiveGuys then to Pandora where there was a press firing, we ran into Robens mother and sister there. We swabbed around or sat and then went to Ponce white at same old swapped my phone and the glass.

around my inner carmen broke. I also realized that BIRD charged me $50 so I was a little bummed and here on money. We then waited back because my car but I got us lost. I ended up calling an UBER. We went back to Paben then to Loris room. Andrew and I then drove back home and ate sappho rice per my request.

Running back on March 1 realize how quickly things in your life can change.
One hundred May's from now this a memory and one less a lot of fun with them.

April 3rd, Wednesday 2019

April 1st was an entirely wonderful day. I started taking cold showers because it's a great way to energize and start the day. There were also studies showing that it helped with productivity and discipline.

I went to the park and to the lake briefly to try and get some work done. I ended up only listening some Shakespeare lines from 'Much Ado'.

I then went to class and watched 'The Art of Getting By'. He seemed to enjoy it a lot.

Thursday, April 4th 2019

I woke up today and went to the gym because I really wanted my day away other than that.

Friday, April 5th 2019

Yesterday I was much bummed because I didn't get a whole lot done. I ended the day going to church and having a great conversational with dust

Saturday, April 6th 2019

I actually have gotten quite a bit done this morning and I'm pretty proud of that. I woke up around 7 and just listened to some of COTR and I put up the dishes at the cooks house. I had some cereal and went to the gym. I was at the gym for quite a while, over 2 miles and bought the movie ticket for my date with Maya today. I will back to shivers, took a cold shower and had a PB&J.

Sunday, April 7th 2019

I had an absolutely wonderful day yesterday, I woke up and ate very peacefully. After most of my time yesterday I became too excited to see the movie 'S' with Maya. The movie was kind of over hyped like we went to Rydell before the movie and got some chips and candy. We walked around a bit because we had some free time before the movie started at 12:25

Date 3rd Wednesday 2019

we looked around and went \mathbb{E} into dislards, I tried on the most ugly beanie I've ever. Soon enough it was time for the movie of yet the entire beginning of the credits trying to calculate a good time to pull her hand. Of course the moment I decided to go for it she was moving her hand too move her hair or something but it worked out. We tried at the cinema a comfortable sweater with my own around her. It was very fine. I like got very close and it felt really good. She acted very soft and I could have been more comfortable in that moment despite being in a crowded movie theater chairs and surrounded by a few strangers. After the movie over we were outside one cold hand which was really nice, we went to the idea and kinda grabbed around. There was this this little bunch of trees where I was convincing pulling her in all lying here for the first time but I thought that wouldn't be very romantic. I also thought about it on the playground we went to before IKEA but that also seemed silly, especially because I made myself very happy from a crazy game of playground equipment. After IKEA we walked to the Burger Place in Hartie station. We had talked a lot about funding...

Monday, April 8th, 2019

(cont.)... a tall building. On the way to the burger place "BGR" she pointed out this sort of road trap across, so we went up there. Right as we got up there I looked off of one side and I knew that this was the moment. My heart started pumping. I now understand the expression of your heart beating out of your chest; it felt like a drum. We made small talk just about what's going on. She pointed out little blue deer tracks she asked what they were and I made a dumb face about them being like bird signs or something. I was thinking about hazing her, I'd trust my own self away around her more and I kind of looked at her and went over it. I think I took my right hand and grabbed her face (I felt uncertain), she tried to open her mouth which was something that I was less than used to, but it's not a problem at all. I wish I had a chance to do it again. After I got some food in and I felt no much better. We walked around the stores we went into a shoe store, express and tried on an ugly tie. We also went to various rebuilt and then the Target at Target we went around, at one point we I run away and tried to try to find me because she Target (having the titty) of the merriamines. We found him and mixed it together outside of the Target. We then walked around and hung out by the lake in front of the ark monument. After this two more came and got her.

So Hayes going to Colorado for a week so we won't be able to do anything this weekend. its kind of upsetting to think about because Colorado is so far away and that's where she is going to college. There are only 30 days of school left so summer is coming up which means we can hang out more. But she invited me to come over this Wednesday because she will be at home alone because she has to stay for tennis interviews. I was somewhat apprehensive because I haven't met her parents and I want to impress them and I wouldn't want to make a terrible impression. I think its a risk I am willing to take because I really do like her and she won't be around forever. This is also a limited opportunity.

I used to remember to feel Guanapathy's dog, wife before I drove to Atlanta. I hope it works out. I'm excited to be able to spend time with her.

I like Mayn. sometimes when talking I have - or rather I feel conflicted, this could be attributed to misunderstanding both and not seeing the benefits of all forms of communication to help me. It could be that she is able to express more of herself over text and therefore I don't know the true her.

The immediately aforementioned scenario seems to be far more justified because its not like anything she says I am entirely opposed to. She doesn't nearly talk about feelings much which I do not want her. I'd want to write and understand her at another on a deeper level. I am trying to enable this understanding of its because it is easy and makes me feel more in control while on surface level probably seem manipulative. I partly see genuine need to understand her on a deeper level and see if she would be willing to open up a little. I am not eager to know her and above all I am with her.

29 days of HIGH SCHOOL left.

Last night I packed a lot of my stuff in boxes. It was kind of an interesting journey to go through stuff I hadnt looked at in a while. I found a note dad wrote inside of a framed poster from "Manders Out of the Bed". I also found a letter from Muffy Day and I really considered finally going that, apologizing terribly and faintly. Only I do I decided what to be very careful with my words.

- Terra is gone the 22nd

So today when I went to the bank and I wasnt there and neither was anyone. I got the super mega. it was really cool. I am gonna be sorry for a second no excuse me for a second but I always forget about how sweet and adorable this was in I have making her laugh because her laugh is the cutest most hummuring laugh ever. She got an adorable laugh, I do my best to make her laugh.

I need the figure out what

PIOS & P Inga about

live got to do this afternoon. I don't remember exactly time, I need tea first cleaning my room because I will be coming to get those boxes from mom, Lame. On top of this I should also work on World History, PE, and the big Shakespeare book.

Friday

~~I'll probably see you later~~Wednesday, April 10th 2019

On Friday evening this week Maya invited me to her house for tea before her parents are out of town. I feel quite conflicted because yesterday we were on Skype and the phone all afternoon, at one point her parents had a conversation with her about not having anyone over, they made threats about it being just jokingly but somewhat serious. I'm conflicted because she is going on a flight to Colombia for an entire week, that in itself is somewhat depressing because its a reminder that she will be moving away at the end of the summer, that just in itself compels me to spend time because our chances seen very few. On the other hand I am also apprehensive because in the chance that we get caught or it could potentially end our relationships which I absolutely do not want. It seems high risk high reward. She is absolutely beautiful and I want her but don't classify our relationships as a certain status that would frizzle away. I want our relationships to survive through her overseas trips, that's why I think it's because she is visiting her time potential colleges. I don't want her to minimize our relationships while making an attempt to make her transition to college much easier. Part of me is like "she's young and I want to make with and enjoy myself". Maybe I should make an effort to minimize the risk. I also don't want her to be paranoid the whole time.

Yesterday after school I drove to Grandpa's house to help pick up a toy she left there in storage for me because our dog ate it. I fed him and let him out, & then went home to move boxes out of the hallway because there's a member coming to visit the house. My mother and I got in a stupid argument about laundry after I cleaned and stuff I went to Shakespeare. Mary had the tennis summons yesterday. She told me that she won a match but has another which was a good thing because her upcoming trips would interest with the State Championships. We debated back and forth whether to actually have me sneak into her game. I tried to get a part of me that didn't urge to do this, because I really don't like lying and I don't want to disappoint my parents. Pondering with the fact that we probably wouldn't be a whole lot of people and where this for a while. She tried to F it and we did it. I went to Shakespeare and only four of the twelve cast members. Of them went to Script class to work on my scene with Valyn. After that, at 7:30 or so and I went to Melon Mashroom for dinner which was pretty nice, I found that after 7 o'clock we are having some communications.

After Holloway left I stopped and went off at the library then got my stuff and left to go to Hayes.
I got a little lost but found my way. There I began around looking up to see which house was hers.
I parked down the street on a branching off road. I walked down the street towards her house. It was a big blue house with a yellow door.
On the left of the house was a shining driveway with 3 cars in it. One was a gold color and the other was a black with leaf then there was a sort of small bed down leading out that has clearly been there for a long time. I stood in between the cars and the side of the house to get to a set of stairs that led to Hayes bedroom. I stood at the foot of the stairs and took out my phone to text Maya that I was there, around this time I heard a car pull up in front of the house. I stood around the corner and saw the back light of a car across the street it ducked and told Maya tell me when it should be safe to walk up. I climbed the stairs and came to a screen door, I started to open it and I saw her silhouette through the blinds of the screen door. She came up and opened it carefully. She was wearing somewhat tight leasure clothes. It was a black tank top with grey bika shorts. Over some sweater the very fine thing other than her that I chose to notice over the floor.

 I guess I didn't expect it. the one of those things that your brain fills in details you don't know and it is taken a back. I put down my stuff and we went down stairs to start making the pasta. Anything that could have gone wrong did go wrong.
 Our Alfredo sauce was watery while also being clumpy, the chicken was burnt, the pasta was overcooked, all that was generally edible was accepted over the trash because that was only left. The entire time we were talking I was paranoid about the worms and I was very collectable on with because of it. There was one point where she dropped the wings and "grilled 'penny' is such a stupid name that goes some reason was very adorable and appealing to me? Sometimes you can gain so much subtlety and appreciation from a subtle action or minimal speaking. It conveys a sense of optimism, not being uptight, listening and I don't know. Sometimes certain interactions really resonate a reaction in me, that's very interesting. After our chapter of a cooking attempt she settled down, brooded and fumed. We went upstairs, once we made it to the top she said 'lets watch TV' and went into her TV room across from here. She suggested we watch 'Swiss Army Man' so we put that on. I wanted to go into the movie when we started viewing. It was really nice to be able to kiss her again. I hadn't done it since the first time and I was curious that she didn't like it on something. I like her partially because she's a challenge and she doesn't let me be an encumbrance or be unclear in myself. I do think she was a little more open. I want to understand her on a more emotional level. We were on this chair in front of the TV making out for a while at one point I told her and she - I feel apprehensive to write anything nicely. I don't want to be pestering back with sharing my thoughts and I don't think want to write in here as if I intend someone to read it because that may change from old record and original going thoughts. It just be brief. It was a nice and beautiful time with her. At some point we moved to a nearby bed and made out for a very long time every once in a while she would burst out laughing because we had such and she was in the background. I say this short but I had a really nice night. We only got about two hours now of sleep. There was one point before we actually fell asleep where she was shirtless and as she was going to check on her day, she put out my grey button up shirt to warm up. When she came back she walked in with it on and it was pulled open slightly showing herself underneath, it was one of the sexiest things I've ever seen. We had to make up and I am so she could make her flight and we I could get to school. She got up right away, I assume to answer all the texts because she had fallen asleep with them on. She was in her room after the bathroom and I joined her after a while, we talked for a while and made same conversation, I walked with her as she put her stuff together. After a while I took the bus to school. I visited her several times and left. I was really tired and in a hurry all the way home.

I'm pretty stressed because once again I allowed myself to get into a bad situation as a result of procrastination. I just want this High School crap to be over. I've been allowing myself to take some alt A&D meets from the past 3 days. It doesn't feel good but I am getting stuff done. Why can't I just do it without the drug? Also, why is that so important, its stuff we gotta do stuff done. I suggest it kind of power we are using. maybe I can't be successful without it. I am not going to commit to taking it because it makes me very unhappy and I feel inhumane. I literally feel like these people invade us we are fighting for control.

Yesterday I consumed myself that I was stupid without the meds. I am not even going to rely on this drug. I need the structure my life in such a way where I can be entirely productive without the meds. But why is that important?
I take and believe in Phayre. Then is this different? I really believe I have ADD so this should work. Why not use the tools available, maybe its the over corrective? Maybe I need a much lower dose? I feel continents, I feel bad when I am not productive. This just makes me act on that in a different way.
I can just waste so much time and my brain justifies that in a way but the ADD just makes me so anxious and wired, maybe that's because it makes me so aware of my shortcomings and because of how lazy my brain is. They can be plentiful.
I don't want to cut myself into time different people. I don't want to be so aware that I am on a drug. I rarely ever think about power, it just makes things bitter.
It's still me doing the work but I feel like a picture and a planet even though I was dealing an unjoin travel.

When I get my prescription I need to ask how many refills I have.

I should figure out what to do about my phone and my computer I should also have.

I cannot waste my time!!!

I want to make something by this summer. I need to publish on fan this week and also ask artists to be subvers, maybe also design an ad for them going to canasta.

Today I went to school from just 1st through 3rd periods. I left my journal & poem, on as I thought. It had actually in between my car seats. Grandmother checked me out and we went to Chick-fil-a for lunch and talked about history for a while. it was nice.

it looks like for one of my health assignments I need to record my calorie and liquid intake

Yesterday I really didn't feel up to it, I went home early to work on my online classes, I got a bit done and I am pretty close to passing in PC and it looks like it'll be okay in history. I was being very hard on myself because Major didn't answer me all day. Its weird because its not like she depends on her for happiness I just really think I like her and I don't get to talk to her much especially since we're over in Colorado so I always assume the worst. I assumed she got caught for last week or that she decided that she didn't like me. This is ridiculous of course but I felt like with you being ignorant which was never the point I should actually understand what you were trying to be ignorant.

I was really overwhelmed yesterday working on the video project and I e-mailed Mrs. Dwyer about how the entire week had been dropped onto me and she e-mailed me back with a sort of lecturing tone and asked me out for not being honest with her and telling her before apparently I have written in the past two days. On Thursday night I talked on the phone with Maya until two in the morning and I didn't end up going to school the next day. I actually woke up pretty-

Why do I become so incredibly jealous of someone when I like them. My emotions, in a way, become so dependent on whether or not the person has responded or not. When Maya and I are on the phone things usually feel like they're going great but she hasn't talked to me all day and I feel worried about myself. It didn't happen me earlier but now its 7 and she hasn't posted another story we'd know she's been on her phone and of just feel such regret. Grey I would change,

I haven't written much in a while and I fell out of habit which I don't like.

I have been somewhat stressed about school because I have a lot to make up and do before I graduate. I need to get this stuff done, like only now. I am more committed. I talked with them about 'Catch Me on Sunday' with Maya.

So I would like to write about these while they're still fresh.

I need to -

- Study for unit 1 35
- Get ready for Oceanography
- Utopia
- Get LOR finished
- do the couple of Gov exams

So last week I only went to school on Tuesday and of really didn't feel up to go - too tired. I think I'm really focused on analyzing something. I think I will never much out on there yet we writing. I just found someone who accepts action so there's something.

I only have one month left and I really need to get this stuff done.

Why do I have to sit there and do absolutely nothing?

mainly in EA or Goo that I don't already know about.

How do I stop wasting time!?
Making a schedule helps. Do it. also maybe do review letters.

compile the clips I have and share them with my group.

- > Get everyone e-mail
- > Report what I have
- > Share

Okay so my main top priorities are with World History because I have the two tests this Wednesday at GOC. I also need to share my edit of the COTR project and do my oceanography.

What am I going to do about W/H?
Look for the review and do it by hand.

Okay, Okay calm down, I think we got this covered. What I really should do is reflect on last week.

Last week, mainly but Tuesday (4/23) I stayed home. I got a little bit done but not much. One thing I was able to do was write out a detailed schedule for myself while top one activity. That was awesome. It doesn't feel good to be behind and I don't under why I do it to myself.

This Past Friday we thoroughly was opening night for "Catch Me if you can" this should be the first performance where I would sing alone in front of people in years and I really think I've improved. My legs used to shake and my voice would tremble. This time was different, I felt comfortable.
It wasn't jitters, I know that but I frequently think that I did okay.

Saturday night was really emotional actually, very move of them I thought. I do think the Friday night performance went best however but by the end of the show at Saturday I was standing in the wings waiting for the finale, "Stuck Together" and I started to remember all of the scenes that I had performed there, even though we tend to sing at the thought of some of them.
They all usually represent a different period in my life. I thought back on how old changed, the people are however I sat there, or stood there in this case, thinking about these memories.

As I thought, the very "Goodbye" played, which was in some ways a bittersweet farewell to my High School theater.

worse. I thought about how bad things are and have been. I looked around and I saw out of flashes and quickly images replaying themselves before me as they had occurred in that very spot throughout the years. I was fine to go on staying from the last time. I had become cheered up thinking about all of these things. I didn't know if I'd wanted to cry or not. I ended up trying to hold back what I wanted. Mr Prince put his hand on my back at one point and said something like 'it's been good' this is what had me straight into being very emotional. Of little matter it's over. Any bit of human contact would have done the same. I was in a sort of tranquil trance. Even though there was a lot of noise, everything fell silent. The moment I felt his hand on my back, it was like I was jerked right back into reality and all at once everything felt so real. Of course times with tears in my eyes. I don't see the Teagans, who was playing my wife and son who I come an step with. Despite my efforts, she could tell I was sometimes, I was too afraid to speak because it felt like if I were to mention a word then all would let go and I would cry We walked on back as we did every night, arms around one another. This night, however, she held me tighter and rubbed my back with her thumb.

It was just what I needed. During this end of the show I looked out to audience family, who occupied the entire front row and saw that each of them held a letter of his name, spelling out A-N-D-R-E-W. I looked at it and kind of appreciated it. I couldn't shake the feeling that, in short 'I wish I had that' met awfulizing feelings, but calm reflection I hope Andrew types from only be is to have them, I thought. The song ended and I was free for being.
It was jumbled and poorly planned as always. I was fearing on getting me and ~~The Teacher~~ and myself up there. As I turned I looked back on the front row when audience family over, to see that the letters changed from blue to green. This was the first thing I noticed, but it was the only thing. On the back of the letters spelling Andrew, were green letters spelling my name. This meant the absolute world to me. I was immediately overwhelmed with emotion. I had to keep looking up to prevent myself from crying on steps. After this, it was time for the smoker beer, which Andrew was definitely very negative about and he anticipated a few speak with obnoxious terms from Angie. I was the ~~other~~ one who had to deal with them. She mentioned Mark frequently, calling him comparable to a dog of something. This made him emotional and start to walk away but I grabbed him and begged him after we did over five hours which was kind of an exaggeration but that's usually how it represents us. Upon the other the cooks gave me this bouquet thing of onions. I just really need to agree more what I have and aim to make better what I can. I need to stay alert and work harder.

On Sunday I planned to play at with Hoya. I went there and arrived around 10:10. I pulled up to her house and saw her sitting on the steps.
She had a new haircut that she wouldn't show me because it was much shorter than she wanted. I didn't know what she was nervous about, she looked adorable. She came up to my car and we made our way to the park near her house to play tennis and catch up.

we walked to the tennis courts making for small talk and sudden joke.
 I always wore my cool around her.
 We got to the tennis court and played worse. I nearly won't that good. We didn't play for very long.
 I was mostly of ball because of my wearing black jums, like always. Not long after we started a couple come in and played next to us. They were able to help a really going. It was in the between really language almost hit her with a ball. We played for a while but it got disturbed! We collected our things and moved on to shooting. We used a newspaper, remember flat stretch of road. She first me shows her what I would do and then I helped her. We went step by step, I feel her article mind and then hand throughout it all. She was running quite quickly and she didn't just give up. She knows how the time things and. When the key things going and when to stop. its nice. She had me go down the big hill man us. It was a sort of challenge I accepted.
 We decided to make out my back to her house, her dad amazingly child went on to go in to the house because it was messy but she asked again and we were able to hang out there. Her parents had gone out to a restaurant. Her brother was there but he had stayed downstairs. We went up to the game room. She turned on the radio and I changed her to Mario Tennis. We watched the radio for a bit. I then remembered the audio description thing and wanted to show her but the radio didn't have it so I put on duck duck goose. We started to his a little which is crazy. It feels so great. We then changed the music to the Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince. We made out through a lot of it and cuddled and it was just great. At one point her mom came home while we were in the big den, she came up to tell me that I should probably fix my car soon because it was going the wrong way, she said something about getting a ticket for $50 and for a second I thought that she paid my fine for me even though I never had to pay the fine for some reason but she was talking about herself. I went and fixed the car when we stayed there for a while and cuddled and whatever. After a while we decided to go to the place where Walmart was and get some food when sat in front of starbucks and ate through much of the time when we were eating it was rather quiet and I was worried about her thinking I was boring. We held each other close everywhere we went and it was delightful.

We got a

(cont.) We went around to all of the stores, we went to office max, BJ's, Ulta, and Patrician. At after she got brown big slide on me and id I said it looked like I kissed a butt hole and she thought that was funny. after this we walked further down the plaza near Patrician she made me chug at entire coke bottle. She often urges me to over consume. I wonder at times if this may have anything to do with the fish she shared. This may just be looking too far into things, even if this were the case, it doesn't matter at all. It doesn't change anything. I want to understand what she thinks of me.

We went around yesterday. We left one another here and made our way back to the little park across the main road. We went there and played some on the playground equipment. Then one of the playground pieces was a copy of one of the pony jockey books. Later when we were a little away we saw a kid come along and pick up the book that was mine. She and I sat on a bench near a trail in the park. It was a swinging green metal swing. We started out our entire other side but eventually came together and she lied down with her head in my lap. We stayed this way for a few hours. We quietly and gently spoke to one another and asked numerous questions.

I didn't do anything yesterday, I just lived there in a sleepwalking state. I eat there feeling very terrible about myself.

ST: Medieval Times

I nearly didn't feel great but this morning it called cloud and I just feel much better. It didn't feel great to feel like I was dumping this stuff on myself and feeling like I was expecting something Jordanian. It's not her bunch to have right now. I felt so much more clear and open when talking to dad.

She only got about 17 school days off. I can see this and then plan home for good. This is me time for retyping myself.

This afternoon at 3:30 I have to take two World History tests that will end up deciding if I get to graduate on time.

I need to communicate with my other project groups because I work better together. I can't just let them know.

I should never just ignore a responsibility, if I cannot believe I should communicate so that it doesn't get worse.

I need a better contact. I think part of what alluded yesterday to happen was being unsure about taking Major through. I got a hammer right after school tomorrow yesterday and then went home and made an attempt to unscrew and stick to a schedule but it ended up fairly miserably. I told Major about 'A brace over enough' the book we're reading in Long's Auto. I told her that the book had an angry scene and she was very interested about it. So curious, in fact that she found the book at the library and planned to read it. She apparently has drawn a lot of porn in the past and sent me some of her drawings. She had rephotographed a picture a couple days ago of a girl turning sex with the bottom half cut off by the edge of the page. The girl was in a turtleneck shouting something or another (it was cut off) and she was in the middle of moaning. She showed a few yesterday, one being a very slender girl and the other was a much heavier girl. She was Taylor. She asked if I had a request for something for her to draw. I told her what to suggest because I was in a territory that made me kind of nervous because I really don't want her to keep her out. We went back and forth over the list of leaves we. It came to a point where I went out on a limb and said that the only reason they'd been thinking about was her. I was worried about being judged and her being avoided out. She answered and said that she must be monopolizing my brain-space, she was right. I didn't want her to be right. Relationships are kind of like a back and forth game. I don't want her to feel like she's nothing without her and for her to toy with me. Is this an irrational concern? The way she responded made me think that she was going to drown herself. I responded and said that she didn't have to do that. I need the situation wrong, she said that she wasn't going to drown herself but she would decide herself what to do. I felt embarrassed to suggest that she may drown a very drowning of herself and that embarrassment was magnified because she didn't answer for two hours.

My anxiety crawled over with my stress and I allowed it to take control of me. I gradually got worse and ended up sitting myself in the spot to where I would sit and up feeling okay the night. She ended up answering and writing the drawing she did.

I hypothesized that the drawing may end up looking a little like her because of what I said and I think that would make me feel better, or at least less regretful. The drawing sort of resembled her in the body and the hair but I think that my face was myself convincing myself of something. I sat down. It was actually a very informative drawing. The body was very well proportioned.
She was wearing to a very revealing black bra? bikini top? A something over the day revealing black bottoms. It was very very hot I went several in the meal anywhere, I felt so uncomfortable. The fact that she did this thing makes her different than any girl I know.
I feel like there's a part of her that I don't really know yet.

This weekend is my theater banquet and I need to prepare audience and my performance of Man or Muppet. I was also invited to a 'cisco de Mayo' party at coles house.

So I did my test, yesterday they were for more people and I should read a book this summer

Hugo texted me this morning and told me that she probably wouldn't answer very quickly. Texting I believe she'd be working on her animation project all day. but been you less recently denied things I have seen in the past which is quite a relief because it felt like I was being controlled and stuck under a curse. Because of my varying hormones I wanted her so much I do know that seems off relief, that not really the case anymore. That doesn't mean I am never, exactly denied. It just doesn't ever seem real anymore. I can maintain rationality.

I would like to get PR and first aid certified

Why, even when its obvious that I got a hammer the people have to ask "did you get a permit?"

I should learn how to play poker and chess

I'm feeling kind of bad I might now and its been sort of skewed towards me again it with being disappointed that I went to her until 3 on Saturday I need to not become desperate or rely on her emotionally. I think after Tuesday I'm still and tired and don't probably know the person you can my mind.

OOGeehee. This morning I attended myself to sleep thoroughly

Monday, May 6th 2019

Oh god, yet another weekend where I didn't write. that worries me.

The last time I wrote was Tuesday and I suddenly felt, with much of anything. I was tired and kinda stressed.

After school on Tuesday I went home and tried to get someone for a little bit. Mom picked me up the end of the school day and asked if I wanted to go by the new townhouse that she was looking into. It was in by the sugar hill development. I asked homes and answered then went to the townhouse. The townhouse was pretty alright. I just want to get out of this house and everything.

After going to the bank, which she ended up purchasing it, or well signing a contract. After this I went home to get a phone charger and then I bought my ticket for the movie which was at 5:05. I went to the cylinder store to get candy because the movie I was going, Avenger: Endgame was three hours long and I was quite hungry.

Side Note: I am currently in Oceanography. I just took the SPG which most people have done very recently ever. someone got a 70 and the average was a 69%. I got an 80% correctly. I think it was an 81%.

I want to learn how to draw yesterday perfectly.

I very much liked Luoyang. Enlynes.
It was / wonderful.

The evening I stayed Mayra until 3 am and she had a really great time I think. I woke up the next morning too meet her at the West Egg breakfast restaurant. I drove by the place and saw her sitting out front I parked on the street and walked up to her.
Godd, she so cute. We sat there for no more than a couple of minutes. On top, the night before she told me that she had something for me. I had no idea what it was. She took me to class my egg and pull out my hand. She gave me a tiny little puppy white chubby and gay. It was sweet. He was on my clutch bag over. We got upset into the restaurant and it was remember again for a bit.
Why am I so good at remembering sometimes yet forget other things.
She ordered a some granola yogurt and I got a Belgian waffle.
At one point in the middle of our meal she dared me to put pepper and out in my hand and eat it. I did it but tasted too so bad. This escalated so her pretty out in my drink and me dipping a tea of pepper on her hand. which she because she was going for her water but she had been trained never it.

I poured a mountain of pepper onto the top of her hand. She held it there for a little while then removed it toward my plate, I pushed her hand away and a ton of pepper fell onto my apple. it was all in green. She just because she said the place only took cash which she didn't entirely know but she seemed like she really wanted to be pay. So I let her without much protest because she paid from everything up until this point often and she was denied to make animal for a bit. it was nice we got to hand hands or stuff. She couldn't stay out from very long because she was going to see Newyours at 11:15 and we had breakfast at 9:30. We didn't eat up finishing goodbye or anything. this may have been because she was with and didn't want too, or maybe she expected me to.

I have my online final tomorrow at 3:30

"the other thing that's so interesting about being alive is that you're all in, no matter what you do, you're all in b/c this is gonna kill you. So I think you might as well play the most magnificent game you can while you're活着. because like why have everything better to do? Really? Why not pick the best thing possible that you could do? why not do that? Maybe you could justify to yourself that way? I think you could"

So clearly I haven't written in several days. I turned you to school in almost a week. It started with stress about my online classes final, which by the way did it ended up being good and going alright. I still need to go the P&I performance first. I have been working on the P&I and your performance for a week. It was everyday from 9 to 10 and it was effective. I need to write about this as well as my last date with Mayra and the senior dinner with Patty and Co.

I should also do a reflection on my highschool and it ending.

I also really need to write about the therapist appointment today.

Tuesday, May 19th 2019

Today I'm back at school and my throat really hurts and that's no fun at all. I don't know what to do. I need to clean something everyday. I hope my teacher does give me less work to do today.

Today is the end of the last week of school.
I have a massive headache and its not good.

I absolutely HATE to write is here something always the answer for a low acyphor.

Once I start to get more proficient with drawing I think it would be really cool to try some digital art.
This weekend I plan on going to Picture perfect, with Maya, I should figure out what to do after that. High School is officially done next week and I am very excited.

I should fill my calendar with stuff to do this summer. I should be a complete mess. Empty my room and clean out my email and totally organize myself.

Maya, I got you this journal we're back
I met you on February 27th 2019 at Terminal west during a Tubber the ghost concert. My first ever concert. Even more than you have become a spectacular part of my life.

PIOS 12/10/2008

I almost didn't go to the first concert.
I found Jukebox the Ghost about a year prior randomly by accidentally forgetting to stop my music. First I paid attention to something and realized that they it does where it automatically starts to play similar music. Just remembered (so full of that year) I found out that the Jukebox was coming to Atlanta and I wanted to get tickets because I'd never done that before. After looking at ticket prices I decided not to go. Several months ^{ago} passed, its a week before the concert and I suddenly decide to check my e-mail, which is something I do very bad at.

I got an e-mail from Jukebox with a cheaper offer for the tickets. I went back and forth on it but I decided to buy them.

Kinder to say, after, despite me being glad that this chance meeting happened,

Maya, you are a very special person. You are very smart, really talented, full of personality, absolutely hilarious, exceedingly fun, and incomparably gorgeous.

so due mostly gotten out of the habit of writing, I need to write about how I have been feeling as of late and my day with enough, I give here and give here a journal of how over and my detective pictures. I also should write about my exercises when and how it feels now that school is ending there, was after that lunch I had with dad at time more.

Night men are sitting in Mr. Lander room, my geometry teacher, about to take my final. This is my second last big project final. After this all be done and in the class. I'm so ready for this to be over. High School has been rough, I hope I don't have understanding of that. I may grow to be better at myself, however, in this respect in time. I understand the you have different it has been.

I just finished my geometry final, it was 100 questions long. I feel so tired when taking exams.

- Yesterday (Mon. May 20) Recap: -

I went to school in the morning for the music class. I woke up around 7:08 because my phone didn't go off so my alarm didn't go off. I went to school and Jackson let me in the back. We really didn't do much. Jackson taught me how to play ultimate tic-tac-toe and it was pretty fun. I even beat him. After this he and I hiked and walked. I ended up purchasing bity in the supermarket. After this Jackson argued we exchanged my car and then I went to the pool with people. It was the baby pool pool. It started with me, bity, mom and brian. Then came Taylor N., the daycare worker. Later around 11 o'clock or so came 3 later after 12 brian invited her. Sophie and brian and bity invited grey. I went and picked up grey and came. After some time there were some turns about. Brian took alone with bity then grey then wrote with grey for a very long time. I got a hot sun burn bad. played around all afternoon.

SUN May 19th Recap.

This is the day that I went to see detective suspense with my dad. We went to Atlantic Station and arrived around 11. I caught myself just as she was getting out of her car. We went there by mistake. We thought there was a showing at 1:30 PM but the next show would be in 3D at 1:30. I bought her ticket despite her protest. Since the movie wouldn't be for a while we walked over the public because it was breakfast. On the way there I told her that I got her a gift from being her among all and for grandfather. She was very touched and my anxiety as we walked the public. I guided her so she wouldn't run into anything. After a while I took it and applied it to her. She seemed surprised and happy. She didn't know what to say. She held onto me tightly. She does this they where she grabs onto my arm and its so small and cute. We walked about and then found a theater and went back to the Public for popcorn and coke for the movie. Before going into the movie a lady pulled the aisle and asked questions and showed me an unnumbered busline. It went very good. This took a while during the movie she and I walked a lot and it was really really nice. I felt so comfortable. After the movie we walked around and found a nearby at the soon ever closed spot. We did some natural ASMR and they used to QT for themselves. Bennett Castro twisted me and said she saw me. We then went to Kroger, then went around the playa. Afterwards we walked around and I gave her a piggy back ride.

We bought pop its to play with. We walked over to an abandoned party set and threw there. After this we walked to watch the sunset when it came. No one expected such an atlantic station and got ice cream to share.
I got in my car and drove to the shore yet this may the first time I had driven her because of her parents rules. We ended the day watching the sunset and probably in ~~the~~ back seat of my car. I felt so lucky to do two-way music. We walked to her house and a sweet little gathering. I kissed her goodbye.

Troy. Troy is a moral they to say.

Okay so today I wake up in new Orleans but we start playing after yesterday I was writing up last entrance after my neurology exam. I was extremely somewhat apprehensive about this final because I was sitting at a 70 something and I was very unprepared for the test. I ended up getting an 80 on the final and grading the class with a ~~90~~ or 90 on well. After the final I went to Mrs. Druggers grocery.
I was hoping that I might didn't have to take my final because after I submitted my state since test projects my grade jumped from 22 points below a 70 to a 92.
I went to the doctor and she said that she didn't mind if I took the final so of course I did. There was a extremely I was rather worried.

Wow, writing when not in school is truly difficult, I wonder why that is.

Today I woke up and we went to take a shower and then went to church for a because I truly miss that I would pray at with him during his break and he would get me a free meal. He ended up already having his break but he got me free food anyway which was very nice. I sat in the parking lot and watched youtube videos and read the rest of my summer letters and texted some thank-yous.

After this I went around to pick up people for Sophie and Kerris lake thirly. This took over an hour to do. I drove Tom Bata, Nathan and others. I was very nervous and anxious and I regret not being harder to be more nervously and conversational because that's something I want to be better at. We ended up arriving at the lake about 47 minutes later than the start time. The lake thing was pretty enjoyable I got to hang out with a lot of really good people. I noticed just how much Andrew was enjoying himself, he told me that of the jobs he found it and that was very interesting. I really need to communicate with him on a deeper level.

Friday, May 24th 2019

Today I woke up around 8:30 and I could take my dog to the dog park in Lawrenceville. We got there and it was clear we that was fun. After this we went to Dunkin' Donuts and he helped pay a bit. I took him home before he had too much. I visited a while and donuts, this chick felt good. After waiting around I went to graduation practice. This proved to be very boring. I looked around for my name and saw down like thousand words very who went here and replacing everyone.

Saturday, May 25th 2019

Today is my graduation day.
I've been waiting for this day for so long we took a very big trip up to school. It has been difficult and it felt like it would never end. I feel somewhat embarrassed but I don't feel bad. I think I will feel very relieved once I hold the diploma. Now this is my mind still makes me believe that it won't ever happen. In the conceal all because once it's gone.

After I finished meeting this I went into the unisex energy center. It was really hot outside and I had to wait a while to the ~~sun~~ area to cool. We all went through a metal detector and then I had waited in the tent for an hour. I didn't end up seeing him before we all were told the fire was out in the arena floor.
I went in and found no seat. I tried to stand above did not expect uncomfortably until at one point when she walks come up and talked to me, she said something like man I can't believe this is happening and we talked about how we were both recently going down and how we didn't have any other symptoms. I feel like I caused it. I didn't have any rage, no stalk, shards or metals.

R.

It wouldn't help but feel embarrassed or unclean. I was worried about July 4th night. I was supposed to get a firework show by a local fire dept up that cost $1000. All of my roomie class was having quailty which means they got all A's. There were plenty of people in this section that I have a hard time finding much respect for. At the graduation dinner for business machine was talking about how she went to a party with a lot of drugs and alcohol. She was taking about all of these people who were getting very drunk and doing drugs. There were the same highly decorated honor students. She didn't a lot, so did John Peterson. Not having a low recognition or correlation between substance abuse and intelligence or other areas, this cannot be a causation.
I need to explore this throughout the ceremony, as they called cold of the numbers I reflected through way you of my academic career I would take life to write about the the time of graduates nearly approached me and it was finally my turn. in health part in the way that I was last because it allowed me to nearly clarify the meaning of the moment. I slowly followed the line and even asked to get my diploma.

I felt that heavy feeling in my throat. I started rising up when I looked at the diploma. I finally had it; it was easy to I finally did it. I sat in my chair and looked at the diploma. I felt so relieved.
I almost cried.

I don't have time at the moment but I need to write about yesterday when I talked with you and our two audience great climber.

Tuesday, May 28th.

yesterday I went and hung out with you and we clarify that a great thing we ended up talking about the future of our relationship, it like to write about this. I also have had the first camp day today.

This past Sunday, April 26th I went to a park in Atlanta to go hiking with Helen. I got there a little while before her and I'd waited a bit, also parked in a parking lot across from the lake. I walked over. I saw her on a flat area over by the lake. She showed up with her mother and brother they walked ahead of us.
At one point they stopped on the bridge and pointed out some turtles.
I should have said hello more genuinely. We walked around the circle and talked. It was very nice.
We completed the circle and they went back to find a place to sit down.
We sat down near a lamp by the water.
We laid by the water and talked.
We ate gold fish and made conversation.
I suddenly spit goldfish and burst into crying this ended up attracting some ducks. The girls slowly and tenuously approached one girl and one male. The boys had the girl's name out of the tunnel. She was very great with animals. All she said did sound nervous for me to be true, we chose my eyes and hold at my hand.

Wednesday, May 29th 2019

(cont.) she gave me a painting that represented something we had to leave. I said her melancholy was beautifully chaotic and she knew me a negligibly wise painter of that.

After this we made at a lot and she didn't really need to care we were in the park. People wandered people and if they passed by but I don't really mind.

Before too long two men came back to get her eye care reluctantly packed up and made our way to the parking lot. I knew her goodbye.

I went to my car and drove home. When I got home my bed was gone and my stuff was all over the place. I left my laptop and diploma on the bed, amongst other things and I couldn't really find anything. I found my handkerchief and some polaroid prints in the trash of set on the floor and tried digging on my phone which was just frustrating but I think you getting better. They asked me to go to the pool again very long I believed because of him and I didn't really want to go to the road.

Saturday June 1st 2019

I am currently on the plane to tomorrow. This will be my first time out of the country, the last time I came here on Wednesday May 24th. I've been working at Madagascar museum theater company at Soft, day I been very tired and getting headache by the end of each day. I feel like our becoming so exhausted because don't give myself no air of just don't of us there and we do anything. There is just more performing other working hard on an air enough I feel of just very energized when I was setting up stage 1 & 2 for this performance. On Thursday afternoon I met with Taylor Bruce for the first time in a while. After work I went home to clean up a bit I was running all the rooms and like day no. I think someone interrupted day too.

Dr. S. Apparently upon his/her part the SSA waited for several months this would be bill several thousand of dollars and of course SSA was trying to collect her but she didn't pay it. a few months back she said that she hoped they would forget and not pay the fees this or something, day vaguely. a good point when I told him that, they appeared as a widow and proceeded one further amazing experiences and it is very curious to do that to him that action has no integrity in it. ~~she~~ she called me and told me about how we got an expert about the dept and he responded saying that he would take care of it if she didn't pay but if this is integrity, all respect. ~~The~~ I told him before time now was asking me about which model TV she should get which is ridiculous. When I went home that day the very first thing she said to me upon getting about a model TV and I told her what I told her. It is the same that she didn't know at first that it's gonna about if any the it was so high and I said, you you did, month ago you brought it up and you said hopefully they just forgot, I told her that she shouldn't purchase these things if she can't cover my tuition. She just said see everyone she just had of will do it anyway.

I went to Aphrodite, my mom. She came by my apartment later and said again that she was wrong and would pay it after she could. To her except the cliff. But I... well, I don't think she thought I would have to get on her back.

June 1ST 2019 Saturday

Today is my first time out of the country. I awoke up early and showered. It's been doing cold showers from time to time. So I just like every other day, I took a cold shower.

- do IAD?! video in canada

Anyways, I woke up, showered and got ready. The weeks are extraordinarily kind and generous. I feel like I'm just too lucky to be here. It's so inexplicably ungrateful and it upsets me. All events are because I am in the midst of a lot of family conflict and just see him just type all they do from ignorant to it breaks my heart. I've been slowly growing a kind of resentment towards producers underlying lifestyle. I brought up his ungratefulness about his parents at one point and he mentioned any lifestyle may work but I thought he should. I think I expected a different reaction because of how poorly he takes criticism. It too easily becomes spite.

I don't want him to never the world but I also don't want him to feel like I'm lecturing him.
I need it. I need to help in a way that isn't so just suffocating. I think he really does need it.

After the last interview where I was on the plane we went to get our baggage which took a little while, it was kinda funny the way that they were sloppily down. We checked in and went to get the rental car. I took my as soon as I got off of the plane and we announced pretty quickly and excitedly and that I got one.
We went to go the rental car and it was very nice.

I didn't feel super great and I had a feeling all this may trigger me because my life has been very unstructured and depressed. I have not been taking good care of myself

Thursday, June 6th, 2019

I will write tonight & travel to London watching some tips from Cross Mill Hunting right now.

I think its a noble and good cause to try and cost myself out early in this trip of being myself, generous, helpful and spiritual. I grew angry at everyone and everything I experienced.

That it was because I had to go at my request, was especially, as we being large & well fit for hunting.
I would always very punctual, because of was fit following of gun up to another parent which is absolutely ridiculous because they have been extremely generous and you give a lot of work to me in the last week, I will also many times refused to take me to go out or over our part is so professionals, that I quickly catch very ill and uncomfortable, or also get very uncomfortable around

Another tip from hunting is to be close home, but according to me do anything I don't like that is entirely his fault because his parents really do everything for him. His, dogs, people, other bad people at all I'd just don't think it is doing him any favors. The more they do and the more unwillingly more I see people getting off him. I'm convinced that he believes we being and greater are a weaker person. I just no particular will to enjoy things he does recently and I really should stop and respectfully communicate this to the first decent people I see there, things were well of his fault but if god keep investigating this sort of things will go much better. Of course continue to kindly request the what he does. Maybe open up a bank account against my being left alone it is a need to sing something.

Friday, June 7th 2019

I d ~~had~~ had tea with a really alone. I walked to Tim Hortons and got a muffin. a peanut and a hot chocolate after this I continued walking around the city a little bit. I tried hitting to come of '12 rules... again but it wasn't really being abandoned. I found myself on the abandoned bridge. As I walked the distance of the bridge I probably saw about 20 nestlings or pieces of vegetation drying. I assume for firewood. It seemed that looked like a field dry. The birds here are just now getting out of school.

After this I went back to the concrete and went to lunch at a place called Sophie something

Saturday June 8th, 2019

I often find a lot of the new medicine I watch enjoyable and valuable, I never feel sick bush sugar after taking him on it. Why is it then, that I still rarely feel comfortable experiencing new things. It could just be the comfort of familiarity.

I'm currently on the other plan to have Vancouver and Langley. Other I assume is Victoria I will be going there to a few days which I think would I think it'll be a good thing though. Will truly be a new start

Any of you some I would like to start a good gateway to Victoria and seeing her busy, I told her earlier in the week that I would give her a day that she could use as soon as I was in another country. I just regret making excuses for not being all that I can. I think I often appear too be weak and try more than the body to amount of work, and in it's a better person I feel ~~better~~ and more energized from having less idle days rather than a week. What I need most always and in part is probably preparation I want so by the sets very always easy. After some fine countries with so far doing still not easy in the time before I need often go to more challenge on which I pay something else. I suppose that is most varieties I know the answer and I need also what I see as beneficial.

I'm currently helping with the Musical Theater summer camp, and Leslie is really making me feel like a queen crip. I cannot decide if it's because she's incompetent or if she is just supremely anal and extremely articulate. I feel like it wouldn't be very fair to assume either is entirely true. She isn't very good at articulating what she wants, however she is good at acting. She also, been so early and very, very change. She been struggling with what to do about that. I tried to tell my manager and fearing how he'd take it. He doesn't feel right to force it. One night, I could force it.

- Tami came up on stage for show.

Leslie was up in the stage area struggling to play guitar and hold her sheet music in her lap.

Today, been reading some of this book that maya gave me called

'When Bright Becomes Dark' its very good, I would really like to read it, but many. The book is very well thought out and makes a big make over. I feel like I need to pursue a more meaningful life. Themes of nation in the chapters that are in that book about how people act and talk.

"Our suffering can make an answer to the obvious suffering of another."

I think I'm guilty of allowing my comparatively insignificant suffering to cloud the needs of others. I cannot imagine the world a better place if I am too concerned with myself and I realize we must truly be suffering in our sorrows that I neglect what's good for common myself that I'm trying to pursue stuff out.
