This is hopefully the start of my new journal. I'm keeping that keeping it digitally will help me keep up with it better. Today I made the somewhat impulsive decision of buying this iqool and apple pencil to work on keeping me more organized.

Saturday, January 1st 2022

Good morning, just like I told Caroline, I want to see this year to make a real difference in my life. I can't forget all of the amazing things that I can do with it. I need to be pretty cynical about the new year. Thinking it would keep people from making real change because they wait for the webberwag threshold of a new year to make a difference. While it's true that you should know that you can make a change whenever. You can still see the unique opportunity of the new year to hold you accountable to change.

I need to think of some clever way to make money

Sunday, January 2nd, 2022

Today we have another Fellas show so hopefully we have enough people show up enough so that we have some audience suggestions to work off of.

I took care of Caroline and took her to the come shop

Tuesday, January 4th 2021

I had a very meaningful day. This morning I went to S&H to help take down Christmas stuff. Later I went to Sandy's apartment to be with Caroline and we organized her room while talking and listening and singing to music and it all felt very special. Her said that she noticed how happy Caroline was and that meant so much to me.

Thursday, January 5th 2022

yesterday I was supposed to see Caroline and Sandy, but I didn't hear from them. After I still didn't hear from them this morning I was a little concerned. I called twice and found out that there was something wrong. Sandy came home and had a bad reaction to a new oil by Caroline and we spent cleaning her room. Caroline had a bad reaction this morning about going to school. She said at the idea of going into school. Sandy let her stay home. Sandy and I had a long and very good conversation about the future and her past and Caroline. I think that I had a productive day getting through to both of them individually. Caroline really opened up to me in the car, and she told Sandy that she likes talking to me about things that makes me very happy. After being with them I went to lowes for some things for Mt. On my way and I offered to help this woman carry something to her car and she was clearly very touched. It was nice. She said something about me being a wonderful man and she thanked me for being a "human".

Friday, January 7th 2022

It was the first day of the SAI retreat. Being a part of the "empowerment" team I went a day early to help plan and schedule the next year. We had a moment to point out the strengths and weaknesses of our current state of our company. It was called a SWOT which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, Threats.

We later went to a restaurant called The Trattoria and there was a moment when I was walking out of the restroom where I saw this young and beautiful woman who was talking to a group of young boys who were joking about trying to get drinks from the bar. And she was asking them to show their IDs.

Saturday, January 8th

Today is the second day of the SAI retreat. It's been an all day meeting at a farm house in northern Georgia.

I am sort of in a weird sort.

I need to probably think of a good way to make some money.

Tuesday, January 11th 2022

yesterday I had a moderately productive conversation with Sandy about pushing Caroline into acting at a young age. Today she didn't have work but she oddly had Caroline take the bus instead of me getting her with concern me that she is somewhat unappropriately dealing with her emotions. She seemed pretty up after our conversation. I just wish she didn't complain when something is wrong. The thought of her taking Caroline away from me haunted my thoughts.

I know she's doing what I believe to be right by not trying to push her into film acting.

tonight I'm going to see quantum share I hoped I currently have less than $30 in my bank account. I'm going to buy and sell pictures of the place to sell hopefully it works.

Wednesday, January 12, 2022

I'm still feeling a little off. I make up feeling pretty depressed. I still haven't heard from Caroline on casting. I think that and my few finances. I need to also focus on how to be productive with my work. I'd like to model my photography to schools and production companies.

Sunday, January 16, 2022

I am not in a great place currently. I don't feel very stable where I am.

Monday, January 17, 2022

I'm not really quite sure what I'm doing or why I'm so upset. Depression is a real and very frustrating disease.

Tuesday, January 18, 2022

I'm not sure I like who I am.

Sunday, January 23rd, 2022

Monday, January 24th 2022

I'm really not sure how I feel or what I'm supposed to do about it. When you feel catastrophically upset with no end cause your entire idea of life is upside down.

Sunday, January 30th, 2022

It's been about a week and I don't feel very great.. No. It's been longer.

Okay I think I'm getting back on track. I suddenly am filled with clarity about what I want to do.

- * start a gaming channel w/ audience
- * create branding for dad & myself
- * get an office for projects
- * ask about promo video from Brewster.

I need to write out my premise for the father art project.

Arts & Crafts with the Fellas - ep 1

- painting with anything

Q: What do we paint?

- bid on ebay starting @ $20
- name them on camera
- Promote Gallery

I am feeling a little bit better I think - I might just have separated it in to really enjoy the moment and not overthink about "grown up" stuff. worrying so much about always really impressing me. I watched the movie Inside and it really helped me clarify a lot.

- blank polished painting
